

VOTERS' CHANGE OF RESIDENCE BIG QUESTION

ATTORNEYS HOLD THAT REMOVAL IS NOT CONSIDERED IN TOWN ELECTION.

BUT LINES HOLD IN CITY

Supreme Court Has Never Passed On Question Which Is Of Interest.

With the approach of the township and city election days there is some confusion as to the rights on the part of the voter, who intends to remove from one part of the city to another the first of the month. According to the election law a voter must have resided in the state one year, in the county ninety days and in the precinct thirty days preceding the date of election.

At the township election it makes no difference if you have moved from one part of the township to another even the day before election; it does not disqualify you from voting as the township is considered as a precinct and the precinct is too large to have only one voting place, so may be divided into voting districts. At city elections the city is sub-divided into precincts and in Dixon there are five of these sub-divisions or precincts, and it has always been held that in case a voter moves from one precinct to another less than thirty days before election he forfeits his right to vote.

There are some who contend that this does not hold good under the commission form of government, as the law reads that in the selection of candidates the ward lines are eliminated. The attorneys who have passed of this section of the act hold that it applies only to the candidates themselves and that they may all be selected from one part of the city or distribute about various sections. The attorneys hold that the precinct lines held good and in order to vote residence must be had in the precinct for thirty days. The question has never been passed upon by the supreme court and until it has there will be no high authority to fall back to.

Illinois Is Known As "Non-Registration State"

(Associated Press)

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 25.—The secretary of the state board of health, Dr. St. Clair Drake, in a special bulletin issued today, said that in Illinois every year upwards of 40,000 children are born who, because of a lack of records are destined to grow into manhood and womanhood without any legal proof of their legitimacy and without any official record by which to establish their identity, age or their right of inheritance. He added that some 30,000 citizens of this state die each year without any record of this fact being made a subject of official entry and without proper records for the protection of the interests of survivors. The United States government has dubbed Illinois a non-registration state, a char-

START FREEZING AT ARTIFICIAL PLANT TOMORROW

LOCAL CONCERNS PREPARE TO MARKET THEIR PRODUCT DURING SUMMER.

NEW FIRM IN BUSINESS HERE

Sutterlins, of Kentucky, Who Bought Local Plant, Are Overhauling Equipment.

As the seasons come and go they have their effect upon various lines of business and permit each one to have their inning. The coal man has been the man on top the past few months and now he must soon take a back seat and permit the ice man to have his turn. In looking forward to the summer business the new proprietors of the artificial ice plant on River street have been more than overhauling all the machinery at the plant and putting it in first class shape, and their labors were completed to day and on tomorrow they will again start in freezing, having an order for a car of ice to be shipped to Rochelle before the first of the month.

S. N. Watson of the Dixon Pure Ice Company will also sell ice to the down town district this year, as well as carrying on an extensive shipping business.

On February 10th, F. J. Sutterlin, Frankfort, Ky., purchased the Dixon artificial ice plant. Both are experienced men and have been connected with the manufacture of artificial ice for many years. Mr. Sutterlin has owned a 75-ton plant at Frankfort for the past eighteen years and has built up a big business in the south. He had another plant in a small town which his son William T. Sutterlin had been running and receiving a good offer for the same, he sold it last fall and then set out to either buy or build a plant in some other city. He got in touch with George Marshall, owner of the Dixon plant and came here and looked it over, and becoming attracted by Dixon, decided that a plant ought to be sold here, and hence purchased the same.

Mr. Sutterlin does not intend to remain in Dixon, the management of the plant will be turned over to his son, William T. Sutterlin, and he has already moved his family here and is now nicely located in North Dixon. The concern will be known as the Dixon Distilled Water Ice company. Mr. Sutterlin has remained to superintend the overhauling of the plant, such as repacking the water, steam and ammonia valves, cleaning out the purifier tank, and recharging the ammonia tank so as to bring it up to the standard of 26 degrees. As the plant is run there is a loss of ammonia and it must be replenished from time to time if it is kept up to the standard for freezing. A number of the pans in which the ice is frozen have become leaky, and if any of the salt water gets into the pan it makes snowy places in the cakes of ice. These will be mended or replenished with new pans.

In conversation with Mr. Sutterlin he stated to a Telegraph representative that "all ice made in the Dixon plant will be from pure distilled water. I have had a plant at Frankfort, Ky., for the past eighteen years and for the past fourteen years I have been without any competition. It has always been my aim to give the public the best ice possible and to serve it to them promptly. The local plant has a capacity of 35 tons every twenty-four hours and I hope to build up a trade that will keep the plant to capacity during the summer months."

PUNISH SOCIALIST LEADER; MUSTERED INTO GERMAN ARMY

DR. KARL LIEBKNECHT MEMBER OF REICHSTAG, MUST FIGHT FOR FATHERLAND.

(Associated Press) Dr. Karl Liebknecht, a member of the Reichstag and perhaps the most widely known socialist in Germany, has been mustered into the German army as a member of the Landstrum regiment and assigned to service in Alsace.

This drastic action is supposed to be due to his voting against the adoption of the budget in the Reichstag. It was reported last December that he was the leader of a secret movement in Germany for peace.

In January he appealed to the news papers and labor leaders to use their influence to end the conflict. He has been disavowed by his party associates in the Reichstag.

PEOPLE'S CHURCH HAS GOOD FEATURE

UNITY FORUM DISCUSS SUBJECTS OF INTEREST ON SUNDAY MORNING.

The following announcement is made by the People's church of this city:

The Unity Forum of the People's church meets each Sunday, immediately after the morning service and lasts from twenty to thirty minutes. The object of the Forum is gaining information and free speech upon matters which pertain to the civic and home life of the masses.

These discussions, inaugurated by the pastor, Dr. L. B. Fisher of Chicago, have been continued through the winter, constantly growing in interest. Such subjects as sanitation, health, education, civic needs, etc., are considered. These subjects should appeal to the masses of the people without regard to party or creed.

E. J. Countryman is chairman and each week invites someone to speak, who is considered informed upon the subject under consideration.

It is not expected or desired that the Forum shall decide any question. Each one present has the privilege of giving his views or asking questions and the minister is not exempt from this catechism. All remarks and discussions are conducted in the most unimpassioned manner with never a suggestion of unpleasant feeling.

The interest is increasing and the liberty of expression from those who never before have spoken in public is quite surprising, and good ideas come from unexpected sources.

Last Sunday morning was held one of the best meetings of the season. Prof. W. R. Snyder, superintendent of the South Side schools, had been requested to give a talk on "Vocational Training" and his address was intensely interesting and led to many inquiries by the audience.

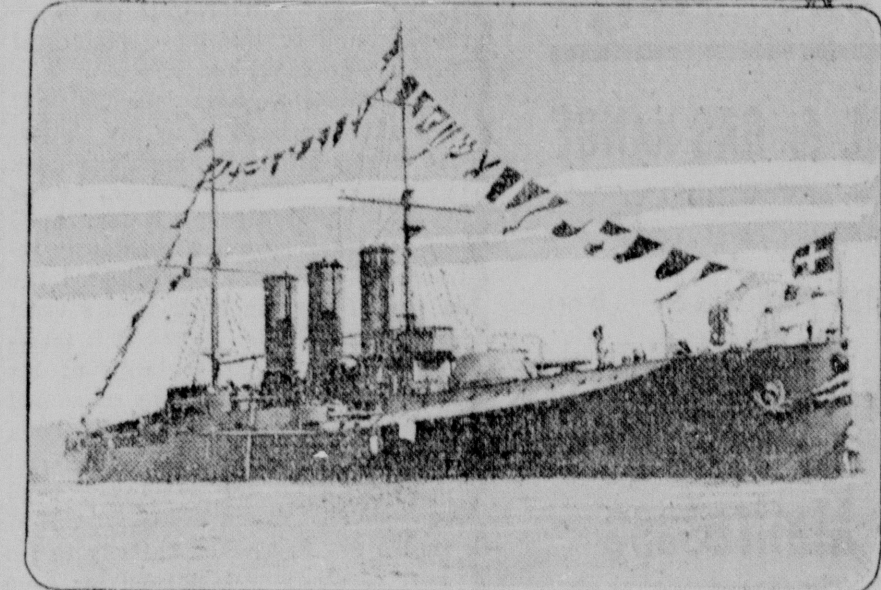

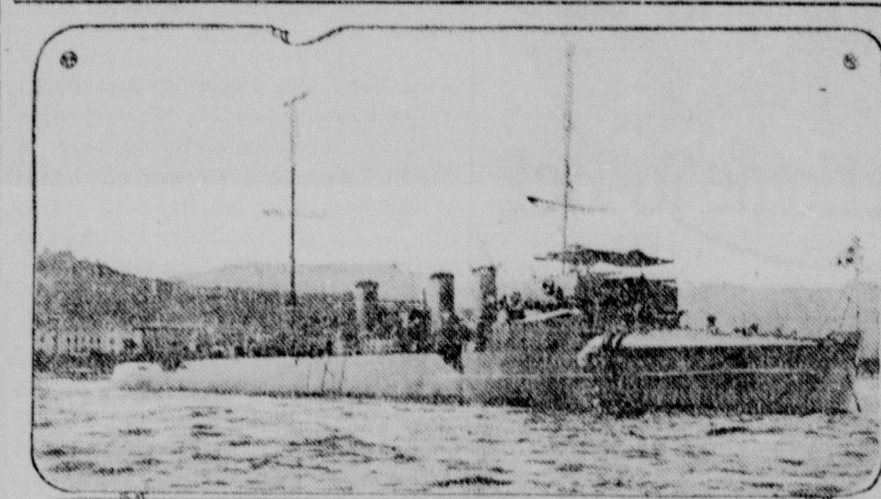

Everybody interested has a cordial invitation to attend. Grace Episcopal church, one of the oldest churches in Chicago, has adopted the Forum system of education.

The religion of the People's church is: "In the love of Truth, and the spirit of Jesus to unite in the worship of God and the service of man."

Italy Far Superior to Austria on Water; Types of Italian Warships

Italy prepared her fleet for action in the Adriatic sea when it seemed that her demands for territorial enlargement would be refused. Two types of Italian warships are here shown. Italy possesses eight battleships of an older type and Austria nine. Italy has nine first class cruisers and Austria only one. Italy is far superior, also, in the number of other class cruisers, destroyers and submarines.

OLD GLORY SAVED LIVES OF THOUSAND ASSYRIAN PEOPLE

DOCTOR AT MISSION IN URUMIAH ADVANCED WITH FLAG BETWEEN LINES.

(Associated Press) Tiflis, Feb. 25.—The situation at the American Presbyterian mission at Urumiah is desperate. While Turkish troops and Kurds were massacring Assyrians at Geogtapa where 3,000 Assyrians had been making their last stand, Harry Packard, a doctor at the Presbyterian mission, unfurled the American flag and advanced between the lines. As a result of his act all but 200 Assyrians were saved; they had been burned in a church. As a result of the war 20,000 Assyrians have been killed or are missing. The situation at Urumiah has already been taken up with Turkey by the United States government.

TURKS FEAR BULGARS.

An Athens dispatch says that the Turks are fortifying their positions near Adrianople, fearing an attack from Bulgaria. It is reported a new army is being trained by German officers.

TURKS SUFFERED HEAVILY.

Reuter's correspondent on Island Tenedos cables "According to reliable information from refugees from the Dardanelles the Turks suffered enormous losses in the attack of the allied fleet on March 18. The greater part of their fortresses and powder magazines were reduced, according to the stories. The Turkish submarine defense lost its vantage—owing to the mines breaking apart. Two British destroyers Wednesday penetrated the straits a considerable distance."

GERMANS SINK SHIP.

The German cruiser Karlsruhe struck a reef in West Indian waters in December and after all attempts to free her had proven unsuccessful her crew, fearing the vessel would fall into the hands of the enemy boarded one of the captive ships which the Karlsruhe was conveying and placed a bomb under the doomed vessel and sent her to the bottom.

The foregoing story was brought to New York by an officer of the American steamer Carib which was sunk by a mine in the North Sea. He said he obtained his information from a friend, an officer of the German navy at Bremerhaven, where he spent five days. Some of the crew of the Karlsruhe who returned to Germany were decorated by the emperor.

Start Plans For Illinois Centennial Anniversary

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 25.—The 49th General Assembly will be asked this week to approve of the plans of the Illinois Centennial Commission for the celebration in 1918 of the one-hundredth anniversary of the admission of Illinois to statehood. The commission's report will be presented to the House of Representatives by John S. Burns of Chicago and to the senate by Senator Kent E. Keller of Ava, both of whom are members of the commission.

If the plans of the commission are carried out, the celebration of the Illinois centennial will be the most notable event of the sort in the history of the country. Interest has been aroused from one end of the state to the other, through the activities of the commission, and thousands of persons have offered suggestions or advised with members of the commission regarding plans.

In a general way it has been decided to mark the anniversary with the following demonstrations:

1. Statewide celebrations to be held in each county, city, town, village, church and school in the state. Senator Keller, chairman of the committee, is now organizing County Centennial associations in every county in the state, to take charge of these local celebrations.

2. Central celebration, exposition and historical pageant at the capitol. It is expected to make the exercises at

BURBANK LECTURE TO BE HEARD HERE

A. L. GEISENHEIMER CO. WILL GIVE FREE LECTURE AT FAMILY, APRIL 1st.

TO TELL OF PLANT ARCHITECT

Illustrated Lecture Should Be Attended by Children and Grown-Ups—Work of Genius.

On April 1st, Thursday afternoon, at the Family theater, Dixon people will have an opportunity to hear a highly interesting lecture on Luther Burbank and his life and work. The A. L. Geisenheimer Company has arranged to give this lecture free to the public, and has engaged the lecturer and the theater for the afternoon. Announcements as to securing tickets and the details of the program will be made by the Geisenheimer Company in this paper later. Frederick Boegle is the representative who will lecture on "Burbank," one of the most wonderful men in the world today.

Burbank Works Hard.

Luther Burbank is in his sixties. He is spry physically, alert and keen mentally. He still refuses to see about a hundred people a day, limiting his interviews to a constantly reducing minimum. He adopted the policy of denying interviews several years ago, because he found it interfered with the productivity of his labors. Save for the time consumed in his short automobile trips from his embowered home in Santa Rosa, to his horticultural laboratory and proving grounds in Sebastopol, Burbank's day is devoted entirely to his work. When he is not delving deep into the mysteries of nature, or conducting experiments, he is dictating to a corps of stenographers, all of whom he keeps busy tabulating his records and answering correspondence. He answers every letter he receives and they stack up in formidable piles several times a day. Burbank's little home in Santa Rosa has been the scene of more notable interviews than any other dwelling house in this or any other country. Thousands of world-noted men who have visited California have made the pilgrimage to Santa Rosa. Political potentates, scientists of international fame, the world's writers and artists, business magnates, the men famous in transportation and commerce, all have done Burbank homage. Many of them, recalling the pleasant hour or less that was spent with him frequently send their host of other days a message of good wishes, and none of these messages goes unanswered. With a few men Burbank corresponds regularly. They are as a rule scientists in other fields than his own. They are, to his mind, of his family.

At night comes his only real relaxation. This consists in occasional social intercourse with a few intimate friends, or being read and played to. He is very fond of literature and music. But in order to save his eyes for scientific experimentation he has his secretary read to him. The literature he comes in mental contact with nowadays includes technical disquisitions on the practical application of electricity, advanced chemistry, history and popular novels after they have stood the test of a year's time. The popular magazines he skims through familiarizing himself with the subject-matter by a reading of titles and a hop, skip and jump journey through what follows. Music is his favorite diversion and he finds equal pleasure in both the individually inspired and the canned varieties, his sitting room containing the latest mechanical music producing models.

Burbank has a distinct literary style in his writings and the words he selects to describe his creations have a marked graphic quality. He appreciates the inadequacy of words to picture a fruit or a flower. In fact, he says it is as impossible to paint a mental picture of a horticultural production as it is of a human being. "All I do is to give the distinguishing details, the featural essentials," he says. "And is not this the tendency of the age?" The latter being a bit of philosophy that many successful newspapers have found to be a modern necessity also. The world is always interested in the phenomenal, yet strange to say, that thought has never dominated Burbank's intent. He is primarily invested with a desire to produce that which will serve a useful worldly purpose, and when the man's life work is written in its entirety, the record that he has done for mankind, the betterments that he has accomplished in living, will be the signal strokes in his biography.

All garden lovers will be interested in an illustrated lecture upon "Luther Burbank, the Man and His Methods," which will be presented on Thursday afternoon, April 1st, at the Family theater, commencing at 2 o'clock.

This lecture is illustrated with many natural color reproductions of Burbank's creations and describes simply and interestingly the methods followed by this great plant experimenter in arriving at his wonderful results.

BOYS BROKE STORE WINDOW.

Boys playing in the vacant lot across from the Hoon & Hall grocery store this morning threw a ball through one of the big plate glass windows in front of the store. The boys had agreed to pay for the damage. The experience should be a good lesson to them and we suggest that they pick out a spot more removed from windows for their next ball game. The boy who threw the ball across the lot and the street, and through the heavy window, has a good "wing" for the ball diamond, but too dangerous for the business district.

THE BANANA.

The banana is a modest fruit whose interior is used as a food by the thrifty and whose exterior is used as street pavement by the thoughtless.

Nothing is less heroic or impressive than a large yellow banana as it is about to descend into a color-ed boy. Neither the banana or the peanut are taken seriously by Americans. They are listed as amusements instead of foods. Yet the banana has saved more Central American countries than watchful waiting ever did or will.

A great many earnest patriots and statesmen and a large number of battleships spent many years trying to make something tangible out of Guatemala, Costa Rica and other variously colored spots on the map. They organized fine governments on up to date lines and provided them with everything except revenues and an excuse for existence. Civilization proceeded with all the impetuous ardor of a bronze dog on a concrete foundation until American capital came in and turned its attention to the lowly banana.

Since then things have looked up in Central America. Railroads have been built; money is a familiar sight and a large number of citizens are working several days a week. More than fifty ships are kept very busy hauling bananas to this country and the inhabitants of most Central American republics have been too preoccupied to put on any revolutions for many years past.

This is a pretty good record for a short lived fruit with no backbone to speak of. If Mexico raised more bananas for the push cart trade of New York, the provisional government business would become greatly depressed in time.

America eats bananas in a casual and unappreciative manner. It could live on them if it had to. The banana is more nutritious than anything except a beer advertisement and those travelers, who object to paying war prices in a dining car for bread and butter, would do well to step forward to the train boy's dromedary and gorge themselves for a dime.

How to Have the Best Cough Remedy and Save $2 by Making It at Home

Cough medicines, as a rule contain a large quantity of plain syrup. A pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, stirred for 2 minutes, gives you as good syrup as money can buy.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces Pinex (50 cents worth), pour into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with sugar syrup. This gives you, at a cost of only 54 cents, a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50—a clear saving of nearly $2. Full directions with Pinex. It keeps perfectly and tastes good.

It takes hold of the usual cough or chest cold at once and conquers it in 24 hours. Splendid for whooping cough, bronchitis and winter coughs.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough and heals and soothes the inflamed membranes in the case of a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with guaiacol, and has been used for generations to heal inflamed membranes of the throat and chest.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

With Farewell Party.
Mrs. George I. Runion of North Galena avenue pleasantly entertained the members of Mrs. W. B. Rowe's Sunday school class of the M. E. church at her home yesterday afternoon, with a farewell party honoring Mrs. A. W. Long, who with her husband will leave Dixon about April 1, to reside on a farm near Sublette.

Thirty-five ladies gathered at the Runion home and a most profitable afternoon was spent in sewing on rugs, which the class is engaged in making. A short business meeting was held during which the reports from the officers were given and Mrs. Will Anderson was elected to fill the vacancy as vice president made by the resignation of Mrs. Long.

During the afternoon a complete surprise was tendered Mrs. Long, when Mrs. Louis Meppin, recited a selection entitled "Entertaining Sister's Beau," closing by presenting Mrs. Long with a beautiful silver spoon as a remembrance of the love and esteem she has been always held by her associates.

Dainty refreshments consisting of cheese, sandwiches, chocolate and cake were served.

Thursday Euchre Club.
The Thursday Euchre Club held another of their interesting meetings yesterday afternoon with Mrs. John Edous at her home on West Fifth street. There were fifteen guests present and the afternoon was spent playing six handed euchre. Mrs. Charles March was awarded the first favor, which was a turkish towel with hand made lace and Mrs. Margaret Burrs, won the second prize, which was a daintily hand embroidered doily. A social time was enjoyed during which delicious refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served by the hostess.

Prairieville Circle.
A very pleasant meeting of the Ladies' Social Circle of Prairieville was held at the church parlors on Wednesday. Sixteen ladies participated in the day's work and also enjoyed a delicious scramble dinner which was served at noon. A large supply of work being on hand, it was decided to meet again in the church parlors next Wednesday afternoon, and all members are asked to be present at that time with needle and thimble.

Attorney C. F. Preston of Pawpaw was here today on legal business, at the court house.

TIN KEY FREES 4 CONVICTS

Two Life Termers, a Highwayman and a Slayer Escape.

Chester, Ill., March 25.—By ingeniously making one key from a tin to bacco box and another from a piece of wood, three slayers and a highwayman escaped from the Chester State Hospital for Criminal Insane and, although a determined effort has been made to recapture them, they are still at large.

The convicts are George Walter Pressler, life term, for murder, sentenced from Irons county; William B. Mayers, same term and crime from Greene county; Robert Schultz, twenty year sentence for murder, sent up from Cook county, and James Reilly, parole term, for highway robbery, sentenced from Pulaski county. Two of the men were barefooted and all were thinly clad.

HEAVY BLOW DEALT CONSTITUTION PLAN

Resolution in Illinois House Is Shy of Votes.

Springfield, Ill., March 25.—By a vote of 79 to 2 the house as a committee of the whole recommended to the house that it adopt the Curtis joint resolution providing for a constitutional convention. More than sixty members were present and refused to vote, which to the opponents of the resolution meant that it would be defeated when it came up for a vote by the house.

Prospective defeat of the constitutional convention plan means that Governor Dunne's recommendation that the amending clause of the constitution be amended will probably be adopted. Under this plan the people will vote on the question of amending more than one section of the constitution every two years.

Realizing that they were defeated the advocates of the resolution refused to call it up for immediate action after the committee had reported the result of its deliberation.

Asked by Speaker Shanahan if he wanted to make the resolution an order for any particular day, Representative Shurtleff, representing the supporters of the scheme, shook his head vigorously in the negative. The resolution was then passed on the calendar and whether it will again be called up this session is doubtful.

FAKED LANGHORNE'S NAME

American Attache Recalled to Avoid Embarrassment.

Washington, March 25.—The facts regarding the sudden recall of Major George T. Langhorne from his post as military attache at Berlin were obtained here and are presented herewith:

They explain why Washington officials made such a mystery of the case. Major Langhorne was recalled because it was discovered that persons in Germany were sending out unauthorized dispatches over his name. Astounded by this discovery and not desiring to raise any embarrassing questions with the German government, the authorities here decided the best way to deal with the situation was to recall Major Langhorne at once and endeavor to keep the matter from becoming generally known. The scheme was exposed by a ridiculous blunder in addressing a dispatch to the "War College at Annapolis," which is in fact a naval academy.

LEROY L. BACCHUS BANKRUPT

He Was Vice President of Defunct La Salle Street Bank.

Chicago, March 25.—Leroy L. Bacchus of Park Ridge, formerly vice president of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States District court. The former banker schedules liabilities of $58,888.05, as against assets of $230, consisting of household goods, which he exempts.

The liabilities consist nearly entirely of notes on which capital stock of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank was placed as collateral.

Canada Votes $100,000,000.
Ottawa, March 25.—A resolution for a $100,000,000 war credit was moved by Prime Minister Borden and adopted at once.

THE LAST "ARMAGEDDON."

Aurora Beacon-News: Members of the Seventh Day Adventist church see in the conflict between the allies and the Turks the fulfillment of scriptural prophecy; a new battle at Armageddon which will precede the millennium.

In a number of articles sent to the Beacon-News by the local elder the position of the church is outlined.

Armageddon was an ancient battle ground located in Palestine at the foot of Mt. Megiddo in the plain of Esdraelon, north of Jerusalem. The name was made familiar to a large portion of our population a couple of years ago by Theodore Roosevelt in his famous political speech, "We Stand at Armageddon."

The prophet Daniel, more than 24 centuries ago, according to the scriptures declared, He (the king of the north) shall plant the tabernacle of his palace between the seas in the glorious holy mountain; yet shall he come to his end, and none shall help him."

This is the Seventh Day Adventist interpretation of the passage: The Turk is the "king of the north," having ruled the territory since 1453 A. D. when Constantinople fell into his hands. The "glorious mountain" is Jerusalem, situated between the Mediterranean and Dead seas. If the Turk is driven out of Europe he will be forced into Palestine "When Islam and other heathen religionists come to grips with armed Christendom in the Holy Land we shall have Armageddon. And will peace follow it? Nay, verily, and there will be no battles fought after that, for there will be no one left to fight them. That closes the history of the present world and leaves the wicked slain upon the earth and the righteous on their way with angelic escort to the place of their reward."

DIXON'S OPPORTUNITY IS HERE.

The voters of this township will put Dixon on the Lincoln Highway map by voting for the bond issue to pave the Lincoln Way through Dixon township, if we are any judge of public spirit and progressive inclinations. There is no reason why Dixon should not do its share toward building that stupendous, wonderful monument to our martyred president, Abraham Lincoln, that long highway that will connect the Atlantic and the Pacific in the longest highway in the world. We of Dixon township can do our share in the building of this monument. When we realize how fortunate we are to be on the route of the great Lincoln Highway and to have an opportunity to take a hand in the building of it and be allowed to share in the honor and the financial benefits of it, we will not hesitate to do this thing which will be our privilege on election day.

HERE IS THE PLACE TO TRADE.

There is no one within a radius of thirty miles of Dixon who cannot afford to come to Dixon to do his or her shopping. In fact, these folks who live within that distance of Dixon cannot afford to shop any other place, for no city in this vicinity has the stock of goods, the low prices, the high values, the honest bargains and the splendid service that Dixon has to offer.

Would the leading and most successful merchants in Dixon keep the Telegraph filled with their advertising if it did not pay them to do it? Not by a large majority, they wouldn't. The Telegraph goes into all the "worthwhile" homes. It is read by the people who buy and who pay their bills and so its advertising value is so great.

China has one physician for about every 100,000 inhabitants. It is meant to make fun of the "does," out somebody is cruel enough to suggest that here is the reason for China's big population.

CALL TO BATTLE.

Send forth your sons to glory—the kind that's red and gory—from cottages and halls; for this, of course, you reared them, to meet the foes and heard them, whenever your country calls. You know not why they're fighting, those armies, at this writing! That really cuts no ice; drive forth your sons like cattle, to perish in the battle, for death is Glory's price. The kings, who long for laurels, must have their little quarrels; when they on war decide, 'tis theirs to roar like lions, 'tis yours to send your scions to die where hosts have died. The kings, in comfort kinging, on cushioned thrones sit singing, to pass the hours away; but humble, heartsick parents must send their James and Clarence and Henry to the fray. No foeman carves or minces the royal dukes or princes—their motto's "Safety First;" But the embattled toilers are sent to meet the spoilers out where the bombshells burst. Send forth your sons to warfare! The state will pay their carfare, and thirteen cents a day! And bid them not to wonder why all this fuss and thunder, nor question while they slay.

ROCKFORD GROCERS QUIT GIVING

Rockford, March 24.—At a conference of the leading grocers of the city, called to consider ways and means of correcting various abuses afflicting the provision trade it was agreed that the custom of making gifts of candy, fruit or cigars to customers making payment of their bills was unfair to cash patrons and time forward.

The grocers believe that their margin of profit is small and that they give good value for every dollar received and they do not feel that they should be expected to make presents when accounts are paid, the courtesy of the credit accommodations extended being thought worthy of consideration. It is understood that local grocers have almost unanimously approved the action of the meeting.

TO OPERATE UPON FREEPORT CRIMINAL

YOUNG MAN WITH LONG POLICE RECORD BELIEVED CURABLE OF CRIMINAL TENDENCIES.

Freeport has a young man who has displayed criminal tendencies for years. It is believed that his wrong-doings are caused by a physical imperfection, and it is now proposed to operate upon him and try to make a good citizen of the young fellow. The object of the discussion is willing to undergo the operation and the results will be watched with much interest. Here is what the Freeport Journal-Standard says on the subject:

Oscar Ruthe, who is confined in the county jail, under an indictment charging him with petty larceny will be brought into court tomorrow and given a chance to plead to the charges made against him. State's Attorney Manus stated today that he had been informed that Ruthe would plead guilty to the charge and would then be paroled to the probation officer; also that Ruthe would be taken directly to St. Francis hospital where he would submit to an operation on his brain, for the removal of a depression which it is believed would relieve the criminal tendencies of the prisoner.

Ruthe has a long police record locally and he has also served time at Joliet. It is alleged that in his youth he had a severe fall which caused a fracture of the skull and that since that time he has not been mentally normal; that the injury caused a pressure on a certain part of the brain which resulted in a desire of Ruthe to commit mischief. After he was apprehended in the act of robbing the offices of Dr. Stiver, relatives made known the fact that they were of the opinion that he was not mentally normal and it was stated that a plea of insanity would be made if the case was brought to trial. Local officials talked the matter over and decided that they would be willing to give the young man a chance, and the advice of surgeons was sought. The officials were informed that such operations had been performed and had proved successful. An X-ray photograph was then taken and the pressure upon the brain was cleverly shown.

Ruthe was told of the findings and he was desirous of having such an operation performed, as it was made plain to him that the same might cure his tendencies towards misdemeanors. It will be necessary to trephine Ruthe's skull in order to gain access to the seat of the trouble, and the operation is considered one of seriousness by the surgeons. It is probable that the operation will be performed the latter part of the week. The parole of Ruthe will depend upon the outcome of the operation and if, after the operation, he still shows a tendency toward crime the charge against him now pending will be made effective.

Fred Lynds of Chicago is here visiting his cousin, Jacob Snyder, for a few days.

George C. Dixon has returned from Forest City, Iowa, where he has been transacting legal business.

MOTHER! IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

IF CROSS, FEVERISH, CONSTIPATED, GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels and you have a well-playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled.

"JACK THE CLIPPER" ACTIVE

Chicago Herald: A "Jack the Clipper," who has snipped the tresses of three young girls in Naperville and LaGrange within the last week is being sought by police of both towns.

Three nights ago in Naperville the man sneaked up behind Esther Peterson, 17 years old, threw her into a vacant lot and cut off her luxuriant brown curls. In the struggle the girl was severely slashed on the side of the face with his shears.

Night before last the "clipper" appeared in LaGrange and slashed the hair from two girls.

The man attacks his victims in dimly lighted side streets and in each instance has made his escape without a good description of him being obtained.

Last night orders were issued by the police in LaGrange, Naperville and neighboring towns to be on the watch for the man. Private citizens assisted the police in patrolling the streets.

DIRE DISTRESS

IT IS NEAR AT HAND TO HUNDREDS OF DIXON READERS.

Don't neglect an aching back. Backache is often the kidneys' cry for help.

Neglect hurrying to the kidneys' aid.

Means that urinary troubles may follow.

Or danger worse than kidney trouble.

Here's Dixon testimony.

Mrs. C. Charlton, 516 Lincoln avenue, Dixon, says: "I had been suffering for a long time from pains across my back and sides. The trouble was particularly severe at night and early in the morning. When I bent over to lift anything, I was hardly able to straighten up again. My kidneys were inactive. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Leake Bros Co.'s drug store and it didn't take them long to give me relief."

The above statement was given on May 1st, 1912, and when Mrs. Charlton was again interviewed on January 21st, 1915, she said: "I use Doan's Kidney Pills whenever my back gets lame. Another of my family has also taken them with the best of results."

ILLINOIS "NON-REGISTRATION STATE"

acted at this session of the legislature. A good bill, thoroughly fair in its requirements, imposing no hardships on any citizen, readily workable and pronounced by experts as promising of the desired results, has been introduced in the state senate by Senator Cornwall.

In furtherance of the effort to encourage the recording of births in the state, the state board of health is conducting an educational propaganda, and effective feature of which is the employment of moving pictures. To impress upon the public mind the importance and necessity of recording a child's birth, the secretary of the board has written and produced a motion picture story in which is set forth the embarrassments and misfortunes which may beset any individual whose birth has not been recorded. This film is now going the rounds of the counties of the state, and is being shown under the auspices of the respective local county medical societies in practically every town having a motion picture theatre.

The title of this film story is, "Tommy's Birth Certificate, or Why Births Should Be Recorded."

ILLINOIS STATE CIVIL SERVICE.

In pursuance of its policy of making it easy for applicants to be examined for positions in the state service, the State Civil Service Commission has made arrangements to hold examinations on the first Saturday of each month at the Soldiers' Orphans Home in Normal and at the State Normal Schools in Charleston and DeKalb. The use of these places as examination centers will fill needs in districts which in the past have not been well supplied in this respect. It will then be possible for many applicants to be examined only a short distance from their homes when they formerly would have had to go to some expense to go to a distant point.

Dementtown Doings

Eight days left in which to do that Easter shopping. A study of the ads in this issue will show that the leading Dixon merchants are offering some genuine bargains too. A word to the wise—you know the rest.

In olden times a father used to get many robes, furs, valuable cattle, etc., in exchange for his daughter. Now the best he can pick up for the girl is a few cheap cigars.

When a girl tells you she has "just turned 23" it doesn't necessarily mean that her true age is 32.

An absolutely truthful man—we won't mention his name—has been discovered in Dixon. He came down town the other day with a black eye and in response to the inquiries fired at him he told the name of the man who binged him.

DIXON CHOIR WILL SING IN STERLING

METHODIST MUSICIANS TO GIVE "PRODIGAL SON" THERE SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

Sterling Gazette: An event that is arousing wide popular interest and one that is being eagerly anticipated is the coming of the choir of the M. E. church of Dixon to the Fourth Street M. E. church next Sunday afternoon.

The choir, composed of about 35 voices, is directed by Mrs. L. E. Edwards, wife of a Dixon business man. They will present next Sunday a scriptural cantata "The Prodigal Son" arranged by Arthur Berridge, a musical composer of note.

The purpose is to tell in song the story of the Prodigal, that literary gem of the ages, the pearl of all parables and also to intersperse the story with music and vocal offerings explanatory of the parable itself.

The greater part of the cantata is given by the entire chorus but solos, duets and quartettes are all used in course of the rendition.

The choir will be accompanied by Rev. Fred D. Stone, the eloquent and popular pastor of the church, who will give a short sermon address appropriate to the occasion.

As a matter of course no charge for admission will be made at a Sunday musical service, but a stiver offering will be taken.

The service will begin promptly at 4 o'clock and conclude at 5:15 p. m. A cordial invitation is given to all lovers of the best in song and music to enjoy this splendid concert.

Charges Terre Haute Man Tried to Corrupt Witnesses.

Indianapolis, March 25.—Mayor Donn M. Roberts, in addition to the three men sent to jail because of alleged tampering with witnesses in the Terre Haute election case, was ordered into the custody of the United States marshal. He was ordered to give additional bond of $5,000 for his appearance to answer new charges of corrupting government witnesses.

Roberts has been at liberty on the conspiracy charge on a bond of $10,000.

Sheriff Dennis Shea, City Judge Thomas Smith and Street Inspector Alexander Aczel, alias Steel, defendants, who were placed in jail Tuesday night by order of Judge Anderson, also were held under additional bonds of $5,000 on like charges.

Judge Anderson reviewed evidence which, he stated, proved conclusively that efforts had been made to corrupt witnesses.

AUSTRIA TO SUE FOR PEACE, SAYS REPORT

Francis Josef Is Said to Be Working Through Vatican.

London, March 25.—The Exchange Telegraph's correspondent at The Hague cabled here he had learned from diplomatic sources that Emperor Franz Josef is endeavoring, through the Vatican, to obtain Germany's permission for Austria to conclude a separate peace.

Franz Josef has had several long interviews with a papal representative who returned to Rome, the correspondent wired.

The Austrian emperor fully expects Pope Benedict to act in Austria's behalf before Easter.

The terms of the peace are believed to include the cession of Galicia to Russia, and the retention of Austria of her Italian provinces on the Adriatic.

Allies Landing Troops at Dardanelles for Assault.

RUSS TELL WHAT THEY WANT

Congress of Nobility Says in Resolution That Interests of Country Demand Russia to Hold Constantinople, Both Sides Dardanelles and Neighboring Islands.

London, March 25.—A dispatch from Athens to the Daily Express says that a force of allied troops was landed on the Peninsula of Gallipoli from transports in the Gulf of Saros Tuesday and that a joint land and sea attack will be undertaken as soon as reinforcements, which are on the way for the fleet, arrive. The bombardment of the strait defenses was resumed at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, another dispatch says. A number of mine sweepers were accompanied by warships and the attack lasted for several hours.

A dispatch from Petrograd says the congress of representatives of the nobility now holding its annual session passed the following resolution:

"The vital interests of Russia require full possession of Constantinople, both shores of the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles and the adjacent islands."

Dutch See Crisis.

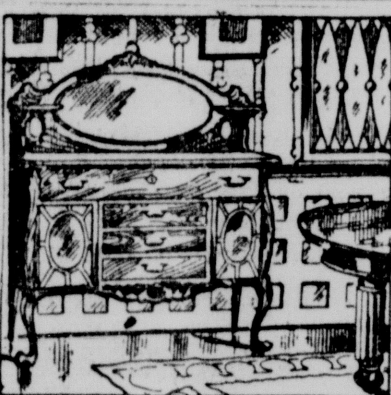

London, March 25.—The Amsterdam Telegraaf says:

"The foodstuffs aboard the steamers Zaanstroom and Batavier having been confiscated at Zebrugge, the Dutch flag removed from the vessels and the crews sent home, Germany apparently intends to confiscate the steamers. The situation is very serious."

According to the Central News, the Hamburger Nachrichten states the Dutch steamers were seized because they were carrying Belgian soldiers who had escaped internment in Holland camps, and also because they were carrying foodstuffs for England.

OLD LEDGER TELLS INTERESTING STORY

HARRY O. WHEELER HAS BOOK WHICH GIVES INTERESTING EARLY INFORMATION.

TELLS OF FIRST NEWSPAPER

Tells of Early Day Editions of the Telegraph—Book First Opened 89 Years Ago in New York.

An old ledger that was opened 89 years ago back in New York state by the grandfather of the late William Martin of this city and which has fallen into the hands of Harry O. Wheeler, was today exhibited to a representative of the Telegraph. The book is well preserved and it is interesting to note the charges made for work done and credits on articles purchased. Mr. Martin was a blacksmith and among the charges is shoeing horse 62½¢; shoeing horse 37½¢; mending wagon 12½¢; sharpening two plows 50¢. These are offset by credits as follows: 165 lbs beef, $9.30; 1 basket peaches 50¢; 1 barrel apples $1.50; 1 bushel potatoes 25¢.

The same ledger was re-opened in 1845 by the late A. G. Marton, father of William Martin. For many years he conducted a blacksmith shop on Hennepin avenue at the rear of the building now occupied by the F. X. Newcomer Co. real estate office. After the year 1851 the book was cast aside and Jerome Martin, a son of A. G. Martin and brother of William Martin, who is now residing in California, opened a diary on some of the blank pages of the book. In 1878 the book was again re-opened as a ledger and among the accounts opened are found the names of many of the older residents of the city, many of whom are still residing in Dixon.

The data as given during the short period the book was used as a diary has many interesting facts. Jerome Martin in those days was a school boy attending the public school that stood on the lot on Hennepin avenue about where the blacksmith shop of A. J. Scriven now stands. Mr. Martin opened the diary on Monday February 21, the day previous the dam became clogged up with floating ice that the weight caused it to give way and the mass swept down against the new bridge erected a few months previous and swept away two bents at one crash. Among the teachers in the school of those days he speaks of Mr. Barge, Mr. Fitch, and Miss Mead. Debating societies were all the rage then, and then held session every two weeks. Among one of the subjects that Mr. Martin speaks ago debated was "Have the savages A Right to the Soil".

During March of that year he speaks of the return of some of the men who had been to Pike's Peak and that his father was contemplating going. Under the date on March 25 he makes notation as follows: "reading a new thing called our news-paper, which had some pieces in it which were very interesting". On March 2 the late B. F. Shaw had retired as editor of the Telegraph and had sold his interest to I. S. Boardman and the paper to which he refers was the first issue under the new editorship.

It might be related here in speaking of the Telegraph that it was founded on May, 1, 1851, being the first paper to be issued in Dixon. On January 21, 1852, the paper was turned over to John V. Eustace as editor and B. F. Shaw as manager. On April 20, 1854, Mr. Shaw pur-

Let earth her song begin.
Let the round world keep triumph,
And all that is therein.
Invisible and visible,
Their notes let all things blend,
For Christ the Lord hath risen,
Our joy that hath no end.

Under date of Monday March 7, he speaks of the city election and of the question of License and No License being voted upon. In making his notations at the close of the day says: "It has rained all day, but it has been such a beating one that it has packed the road very well."

The Temperance ladies are delighted because no license has carried the day". On the following day he makes notations as follows: "There has been quite a stir-up intown today with regard to the result of the election".

WILSON SEES SICK SENATOR

President, Who Rarely Makes a Call, Goes to Shively's Home.

Washington, March 24.—President Wilson visited Senator Shively of Indiana, who has been ill for several weeks. The president seldom visits any one.

President Wilson is a warm friend of the Indiana senator. Just before his visit the president said: "I am going over to his hotel tomorrow to see for myself how he is getting along."

Illinois Ostrich Farm Proposed.

Bloomington, Ill., March 24.—The Bloomington Commercial club has been invited to establish an ostrich farm here, breeders of the birds in Phoenix, Ariz., believing that such a farm would be feasible.

AIR BOMBS IN FIVE TOWNS DEAL DEATH

Both Germans and French Accuse One Another.

London, March 24.—German aviators have bombarded Lillers, St. Omer and Estaires, killing three women and four other civilians and wounding six others, according to an official dispatch from General French. Aside from this aerial activity there has been a lull along the British front, the British commander reported.

Berlin, March 24.—Hostile aviators have again bombarded Ostend, the war office announced, killing and wounding several Belgian civilians. No damage was done to German military works.

Northwest of Verdun a French aviator was shot down by the Germans. A French aircraft manned by two non-commissioned officers was forced to land near Freiburg, and the officers were made prisoners.

An Easter Lily Story

By
LESLIE G. SHANNON

HE stood on the outskirts of a crowd surrounding a group of Salvation Army people. No one paid the slightest heed to this man with the livid face and ashamed eyes. Every one was craning his neck to gaze at the girl in the blue poke bonnet, who had just begun to sing in a wonderful contralto voice:

I've found a friend in Jesus;
He's everything to me,
He's the fairest of ten thousand to my soul.
The Lily of the Valley,
In Him alone I see
All I need to cleanse and make me fully whole.

The martial swing of the music rolled up like a battle-cry. Many beat the measured rhythm upon the stones of the street with their feet. The hymn was plainly a favorite.

The man with the haggard, blanched face and the eyes that avoided other eyes felt something roll down his cheek. He put up his hand and to his great surprise brushed away a tear. He immediately walked away, wondering at himself. He had not wept in years.

He walked aimlessly on, coming at last to a public square where benches were placed. Here he sat down. Next day he went up and down the sordid streets looking for work. There was none for him. By some mysterious power, everyone to whom he applied was aware that he had just come from prison. He had often heard his fellow convicts talk of the "hounding of the police." He realized that he was now experiencing that ordeal. He grew more and more bitter as he met each fresh rebuff. "It's just as they told me," he said savagely to himself; "no place in the world for a jailbird."

As day by day went by without any prospect of better fortunes, his seared heart grew like granite. He came to hate everything and everybody; to realize in the depths of his soul that he was not only an outcast, but an Ishmaelite, his hand against every man. He began to wonder how soon it would be before he would go back. At least, there he could have shelter and food. He consoled himself with the thought that if society refused him his living the state would not.

He often thought of the other man; the one who so glibly swore him into prison; who had worked next his desk in the bank; who knew where the money went. There had been hours in his cell when he had said coldly to himself, "When I get out—"

The sinister thought began now to haunt him again. If he was to go back, he said, it might as well be for murder as for anything else; better, perhaps, for his misery would be the sooner over.

Here He Sat and Thought.

So he began now to look in crowds for a face. He had watched the bank and discovered that the other man was no longer there. He said to himself that when he found the face he would follow it. It should not hide from him. He laughed grimly at the idea. There were no walls thick enough, no doors strong enough, to keep him from his enemy when once he had found him.

It was the end of Holy week, and the florists' windows were a glory. Roses, Anunciation lilies, violets, jonquils—a mass of beauty and perfume tempted the eyes of all passers-by. Even the man—the Ishmaelite, the jailbird—paused and looked in at the banks of bloom in the window of a shop. His somber eyes roamed over the flaunting tulips, the stately roses, and rested on a cluster of tiny white flowers, modestly hiding under their waxen leaves. Yes, there they were—his mother's flowers—the flowers his young wife had loved.

"O-o-h!" sighed a childish voice by him.

Bowlby, the jailbird, looked down. A little slip of a girl stood there looking in the window at the elaborate floral display. She was a tidy little girl, although her clothing was worn and thin. She had solemn eyes and a quaintly demure air. One poor, scrawny little finger was pointing at the flowers. "That's mine," she was murmuring, "an' that's mine," the finger shifted, "an' that—oh! an' that!" She drew a long breath as if the cup of her joy was overflowing and pressed her solemn little face closer to the window.

The man looked sharply at her. He found himself smiling at her enthusiasm. Then he thought differently about it and scowled. But still he lingered watching the child. Something about her went to his lonely, seared heart. At last he spoke. "So you own them all, do you, little girl?" he asked, and was amazed at the sound of his own voice.

The child looked up. "I was just making believe," she said shyly. "Would you like to own them all?" he asked, still wondering why he should speak to anyone.

"I love flowers," she hesitated. "Tell me," said the man, "if you had to choose, which would you take?"

She looked earnestly in the window again, and once more the little claw-like finger came into play. It wandered meditatively from flower to flower, until it paused at the lilies of the valley. "I'd choose them," she said.

The man gave a little start. "Why?" he questioned, not unkindly.

"Oh," said the child, "because they are such weeny little things—fairy flowers, I think; but," she added, primly and with a strangely old air, "flowers do not become me."

"Why not?"

"Because," replied the child, turning her eyes resolutely away from the window, "we are too poor."

The man slowly drew his hand out of the pocket of his rough frieze coat and glanced at the silver in his palm. "You stay here a minute, little girl," he said.

"I Didn't Treat You Square."

He went into the florist's. "How much for a bunch of lilies of the valley?" he asked the pert, buxom young woman behind the counter.

"Dollar a dozen during Easter," she responded.

Oh, Easter, that was it! He had forgotten there was such an institution. "Well, do the best you can for 50 cents," he answered, laying the money on the counter.

When he came out with the lilies in his hand, his quaint little friend was still flattening her face against the window. "Here, child," he said, "take these."

She did not speak at first; but her thin hands trembled with excitement as he bent to give the flowers to her. She took them, and for a moment held them close against her face. "How good you are!" she said.

"Now, I'd better walk along with you," he said gently, "or some other thief may molest you."

They came to a tenement, before which the child paused. "This is where I live," she said. "Please, sir," she murmured timidly, "will you go up to our door with me? There is a dreadful boy on the floor below us, and I am afraid he might take my flowers."

Together they mounted the dark stairway. On the third floor there was a sudden rush and a whoop; but the man soon settled the "dreadful boy," who returned to his lair, nursing a sore head and bursting with wrath.

As the two were mounting the last flight of stairs, the sound of a glorious voice was heard singing:

He'll never, never leave me,
Nor yet forsake me here;
He's the Lily of the Valley.

"It's Captain Grace!" the child cried joyously, "from the Salvation Army. She comes every week and sings us up," she explained, "and she tides us up." She rushed through a half-open door, calling excitedly: "Papa, Captain Grace, look!"

The man caught a glimpse of a young woman in a blue gown, on her knees scrubbing the floor. Then he heard a man's voice say: "Back again, dear?" And at that voice the heart of the jailbird trembled in its rock-hewn tomb.

Never the walls so thick, never the doors so strong as to keep him from his enemy when once he had found him! Well, he had unwittingly trailed him. There he was, in there, alone, with a helpless woman and child. Why did he hesitate?

"Where did you get your flowers?" the voice went on.

"A man bought them for me," the child answered—"a kind man, who fetched me home. Come in!" she called, running back to the door, and seizing the jailbird's hand—"come in and see my papa." She pulled him across the threshold. The two men looked at each other.

The jailbird's first thought was, "You can't kill a dying man," for the man in the room, who sat bolstered up in bed, and who looked at him with startled eyes, was manifestly ill.

"Why, Tom," he stammered, "So you're out? Well, I'm mighty glad. And you found my little girl? She's all I've got, Tom. My money, home, wife, health—all gone. I've only her left."

The Salvation Army girl had stopped scrubbing. She was still on her knees watching the two men. She had witnessed too many tragedies of the slums not to realize that she was face to face with a crisis. The visitor's silence was ominous. His heavy eyes were fixed intently on his enemy as a vision of all his suffering passed before him.

The sick man put out an imploring hand. "Tom," he pleaded, "I didn't treat you square. And I've had my pay. It was I who ruined you, who sent you up, and I perjured—"

The intensity of her father's speech, the pallor of his face, alarmed the child, who ran to him and throwing her arms about him, cried: "Papa, papa! Don't you look like that!"

The jailbird looked at the trembling little creature clinging to her battered wreck of a father. And as she looked, suddenly the stone was rolled away from the sepulcher of his soul and an angel sat there.

Reaching out his hand he took that of the sick man. "It's all right, Bill!" he said huskily. "Don't say another word—a smile transfigured his masklike face—before the child."

"Glory to God!" cried the Salvation Army girl in an ecstasy. "He's got the victory."

An hour later as he reached the street door Captain Grace was waiting for him. She touched him gently on the arm. "Come down to the barracks with me, brother," she said. "The commander will be glad to see you."

AGRICULTURE IS
DENMARK'S PRIDESUPPLEMENTAL SYSTEM OF POP-ULAR SCHOOLS GIVEN CREDIT
BY WRITER.

By Edwin G. Cooley.

It is generally agreed by agricultural experts that little Denmark is a wonder. Here is a group of barren islands and peninsulas, with a total area about one-fourth that of Illinois, much of the soil swamp and much of it sand, which leads the world in agricultural matters.

Look at this table of the agricultural schools of the country, of the number of courses and hours and students. Isn't this the answer?

	Number of Schools	Number of Students	Average number of hours	Number of courses
Agricultural schools (proper).....	13	5, 6, 9 460 252 1,014
Agricultural schools for small farmers.....	3	5, 6 323 184 271
Dairy schools.....	2	4, 8 407 280 133
Horticultural schools (including practical instruction).....	3	5, 12 474 345 62
People's high schools with special courses in agriculture.....	3	5 226 107 65
People's high schools without special agricultural courses, but giving more than fifty hours' instruction to male students (agricultural instruction).....	45	5 106 52 1,341

The Danes believe that the farmer must supplement his own experience with the experience of others. For this reason the government has a system of more than one hundred agricultural counselors, whose business it is to go about the country making experiments and giving lectures and demonstrations, conducting excursions, etc., for farmers. But as it is seen that such work cannot amount to much unless the way is prepared for it, the system of schools outlined above has been established to give theoretical instruction. Most of the work is done during the five winter months, although there are also supplementary courses of a practical nature during the summer months, and courses for girls and women are given at that time.

These schools, curiously enough, are private institutions, established by individuals or by agricultural associations. After they have been conducted successfully for two years, with an attendance of at least ten students, the government grants each a small subsidy of about $750, as well as state aid to students who need it.

According to the Danish plan, country boys after leaving the elementary schools, work on the land for several years. Then they attend for one winter a "people's high school," an institution which has for its main object the fostering of the spirit of co-operation and patriotism. Agricultural subjects, when they are taught at all, are subordinated to subjects of general culture. After that the young farmer is advised to attend an agricultural winter school, and after his winter there, to continue taking short courses in special branches of the subject and to get the help of the agricultural counselors as long as he needs them.

On the Better Road Above You

When tires go wrong, through faults which Good-year tires avoid, remember there's a better road above you. On it are some 400,000 users to whom Goodyears brought content.

Let each rim-cut suggest our No-Rim-Cut feature—the best way known to combat it.

Let each needless blow-out suggest our "On-Air" cure. At a cost to us of $450,000 yearly, it wipes out a major cause.

Let each loose tread remind you that our patent method reduces this risk 60 per cent.

Let each puncture remind you that our All-Weather tread is tough and double-thick. And each skid suggest its sharp, resistless grips.

That's why Goodyears hold the highest place. That's why men last year bought 1,479,883—about one Goodyear for every car in use.

Reduction No. 3

On February 1st we made our third big price reduction in two years. The three total 45 per cent. Yet we retain every costly, exclusive feature. And we spend $100,000 yearly to discover other betterments. We can and do give most for the money because of our matchless output.

LIGHT SIX

You know, weight is a thing that costs a lot in running a car—if you have too much of it. And yet you don't want too light a car because it doesn't ride so easily.

It's just that happy, in-between weight—not too much, not too little—that Studebaker engineers hit in this Studebaker Light Six. For by using more drop forgings, more steel stampings and so on, they made it STRONGER—but LIGHTER, too—cut it down to 2860 pounds.

Then they re-balanced it, re-aligned it—and the result is a car that STICKS to the road—rides EASILY—but above all, a car that is economical in gasoline and EASY on tires. For light weight, you know, means LIGHT expense.

But we wish you'd come in and see for yourself how Studebaker engineers have made this SIX "a less expensive car to run, but a more delightful car to drive." It's one of the best looking cars you ever saw, too—and we'll guarantee it to the limit, simply

The Exploits of Elaine

A Detective Novel and a Motion Picture Drama

By ARTHUR B. REEVE

The Well-Known Novelist and the Creator of the "Craig Kennedy" Stories

Presented in Collaboration with the Pathe Players and the Eclectic Film Company

Copyright, 1914, by the Star Company. All Foreign Rights Reserved.

She opened the bag and displayed the blood-spotted handkerchief. He took it and examined it carefully. "Elaine," he said earnestly, not at all displeased I could see, that something had come up that might blot out the past unfortunate misunderstanding, "there simply must be something wrong here. Leave this handkerchief with me. I'll do my best."

"Thank you," she said simply as she left the laboratory. Craig went to work abruptly without a word.

On the laboratory table he placed his splendid microscope and several cases of slides, as well as innumerable micro-photographs. He had been working for some time when he looked up. "It is dog's blood—not human blood," he said simply, "but what's the game back of all this—that's the main question now."

It was not much later that Elaine received a second visit from Mary.

"Do you know why the servant allowed us to leave the apartment?" whispered Mary with a glance about fearfully, as if the walls had ears.

"No—why?" inquired Elaine anxiously.

"He's a tong man who has been chosen to do away with the prince. He followed me, and says you have done his work for him. If you will give him ten thousand dollars for expenses he will attend to hiding the body."

Here, at least, was a way out. "It is the safest way out of the trouble. Yes, I'll do it. I'll stop at the bank now and get the money."

They rose and Mary preceded her, eager to get away from the house. At the door, however, Elaine asked her to wait while she ran back on some pretext.

Our telephone rang in the middle of our conversation on blood crystals, and Kennedy himself answered it. It was Elaine asking Craig's advice.

Elaine, Too Horror-Stricken Even to Scream, Dropped the Knife and Bent Over Him.

"They have offered to hush the thing up for ten thousand dollars," she said in a muffled voice.

She seemed bent on doing it, and no amount of argument from him could stop her. She simply refused to accept the evidence of the blood crystals as better than what her own eyes told her she had seen and done.

"Then wait for half an hour," he answered, without arguing further. "You can do that without exciting suspicion. Then go with her to her hotel and hand her over the money."

"All right—I'll do it," she agreed. "What is the hotel?"

Craig wrote on a slip of paper what she told him—"Room 509, Hotel La Costa."

Hastily he threw on his street coat. "Go into the back room and get me a brace and bit, Walter," he said.

I did so. When I returned I saw that he had placed the detascoscope and some stuff in a bag. He shoved in the brace and bit also.

"Come on—hurry!" he urged. We must have made record time in getting to the La Costa. It was an ornate place, where merely to breathe was expensive.
